Description

The Akyga® AK-AD-62 adapter allows you to expand the C-type USB port on your phone with an additional 3.5 mm audio jack port. This is a must-have for any phone owner without a headphone connector. Thanks to it you can forget about compromises. Using the built-in USB-C socket in your smartphone, you can connect both the power supply and the speaker device at the same time. The splitter is compatible with devices that do not have a headphone output and do not require a DAC. In addition, it allows you to charge your devices with a current of 2 A. At the same time, it is compact and easy to store.
The adapter does not support a microphone integrated with headphones.
